6. Your rights ►

Under data protection law you have a number of rights in relation to the personal information that we hold about you. You can exercise these rights by contacting us. We will not usually charge you in relation to a request.

The right to access your personal information ►	You are entitled to a copy of the personal information we hold about you and certain details of how we use it. We will usually provide your personal information to you in writing unless you request otherwise. Where your request has been made electronically (e.g. by email), a copy of your personal information will be provided to you by electronic means where possible.
The right to rectification ►	We take reasonable steps to ensure that the information we hold about you is accurate and where necessary up to date and complete. If you believe that there are any inaccuracies, discrepancies or gaps in the information we hold about you, you can contact us and ask us to update or amend it.
The right to erasure ►	This is sometimes known as the 'right to be forgotten'. It entitles you, in certain circumstances, to request deletion of your personal information. For example, where we no longer need your personal information for the original purpose we collected it for or where you have exercised your right to withdrawn consent. Whilst we will assess every request, there are other factors that will need to be taken into consideration. For example we may be unable to erase your information as you have requested because we have a regulatory obligation to keep it.
The right to restriction of processing ►	In certain circumstances, you are entitled to ask us to stop using your personal information, for example where you think that the personal information we hold about you may be inaccurate or where you think that we no longer need to use your personal information.
The right to data portability ►	In certain circumstances, you can request that we transfer personal information that you have provided to us to a third party.
The right to object to marketing ►	You have control over the extent to which we market to you and you have the right to request that we stop sending you marketing messages at any time. You can do this either by clicking on the "unsubscribe" button in any email that we send to you or by contacting us using the details set out in section 10. Please note that even if you exercise this right because you do not want to receive marketing messages, we may still send you service related communications where necessary.
The right to object to processing ►	In addition to the right to object to marketing, in certain circumstances you will also have the right to object to us processing your personal information. This will be when we are relying on there being a genuine business need to process your personal information. Please note, in some circumstances we will not be able to cease processing your information, but we will let you know if this is the case.
Rights relating to automated decisions ►	You will not be subject to any automated decisions for this purpose
The right to withdraw consent ►	Where we rely on your consent in order to process your personal information, you have the right to withdraw such consent to further use of your personal information. Please note that for some purposes, we need your consent in order to provide your policy. If you withdraw your consent, we may need to cancel your policy or we may be unable to pay your claim. We will advise you of this at the point you seek to withdraw your consent
The right to lodge a complaint with the ICO ►	You have a right to complain to the Information Commissioner's Office if you believe that any use of your personal information by us is in breach of applicable data protection laws and / or regulations. More information can be found on the Information Commissioner's Office website: www.ico.org.uk . This will not affect any other legal rights or remedies that you have.

Please note that although we take your rights seriously, there may be some circumstances where we cannot comply with your request such as where complying with it would mean that we couldn't comply with our own legal or regulatory requirements. In these instances we will let you know why we cannot comply with your request.

In some circumstances, complying with your request may result in your insurance policy being cancelled or your claim being discontinued. For example, if you request erasure of your personal information, we would not have the information required to pay your claim. We will inform you of this at the time you make a request.

7. How we protect your information ►

The protection of your personal data is important to us. We take a number of technical and procedural measures to protect personal data. For example:

- Where we capture your personal information through our website, we will do this over a secure link using recognised industry standard technology (SSL) which encrypts data that is transmitted over the internet. Most browsers will indicate this by displaying a padlock symbol on the screen

- We prevent unauthorised electronic access to servers by use of suitable firewalls and network security measures. We use strong internal antivirus and malware monitoring tools and conduct regular vulnerability scans to protect our internal infrastructure and also to protect communications we may send you electronically. Our servers are located in secure datacentres that are operated to recognised industry standard. Only authorised people are allowed entry and this is only in certain situations
- We ensure that only authorised persons within our business have access to your data and conduct regular checks to validate that only the correct people have access. We promote responsible access to data and segregate who can see what data within the organisation
- Internally in our organisation, we have password policies in place which ensure passwords are strong and complex and are changed regularly
- We use secure email exchange where necessary for sensitive data and have monitoring on all email we send and receive
- We schedule periodic checks of all security measures to ensure they continue to be efficient and effective, taking into account technological developments.
